

IT must transform to create the foundation for the New Style of Business

Contain costs

Efficiently host workloads and services

Provide hardened systems and networks

Store and manage data

Software automates business systems

Create outcomes

Continuously create and deliver new services

Manage and mitigate risk

Provide real-time insight and understanding

Software differentiates products and services