There are many reasons why you might want to modernize your existing data center or private cloud environment. Maybe you have deployed some VMware Cloud Foundation® (VCF) components, for example VMware vSphere®, but not the full stack. Perhaps you want to upgrade VCF to take advantage of new capabilities or features, or build dashboards, KPIs and metrics for your stakeholders. If you're looking to improve operations and management, you might want to implement additional processes like configuration management or capacity and cost management. Or maybe you need to consolidate existing data centers or repatriate apps and data from a public cloud.

Do you know how to effectively assess your current state? Can you quickly identify what is needed for your target state and the best path to get there? Do you know how to move from strategy to full-scale implementation of your modernization initiatives? Our VMware Pro Cloud Service™ to Modernize Your Private Cloud can help.

Service overview

VCF Professional Services can help you modernize your private cloud. Delivered by a cross-functional team of VMware technology experts, we leverage VMware reference architectures to deliver a tightly integrated, flexible, and scalable solution to help ensure success.

If you have already deployed some VMware Cloud Foundation components but not the full stack, or if you want to deploy additional capabilities in your existing environment, we can get you started. We assess your current IT environment and operational readiness and conduct a gap analysis. We develop recommendations for technologies and processes and create a roadmap with specific activities, milestones, and deliverables to get you to your future state.
